The standard by which all other venues are measured, the CoreStates Center welcomed 2,469,517 visitors during 247 events, including over 490,000 Sixers' fans, last season - the largest increase in attendance by an NBA Team.

- From the court to the concourses, fans will be thrilled at the new additions the CoreStates Center has added for the 1997-98 season. With Larry Brown at the helm, the 76ers will surely electrify and delight. Fans will also be able to enjoy:

- The Red Bell Brewery & Pub Expansion, allowing for an additional 100-150 patrons to the Red Bell Brewery & Pub, this space includes a bar, views into the Comcast SportsNet Studios and a humidor selling fine cigars and gifts.
- Cigar Bar, located on the Club Level, combines the richness and refinement of a classic American cigar bar and lounge with all the intensity of a state-of-the-art sporting venue. Private and members only, the bar features private cigar lockers with engraved name plates, full service bar serving fine cognacs and liquors, cherry paneled walls, leather upholstered soft seating, granite bar, ample views of the game from monitors and large video screens.

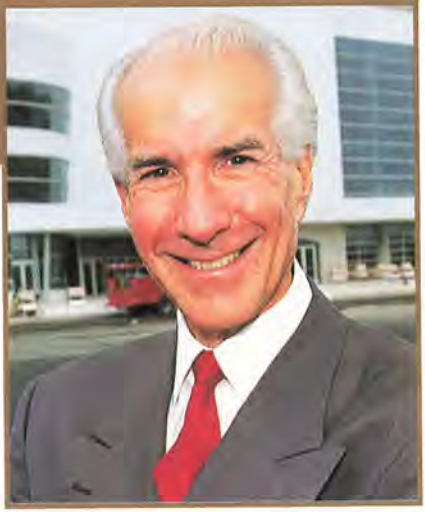
Ed Snider



Ed Snider has been Philadelphia's leader in sports and entertainment for more than 30 years. In that time, he founded the Philadelphia Flyers, developed two major arenas, created two cable television channels, started the world's largest management company, and engineered one of the largest sports' mergers in the country.

In 1966, the National Hockey League expanded for the first time, adding six new teams to the existing teams. Ed believed that hockey would succeed in Philadelphia and fought hard to bring a new franchise to the city. He succeeded, and the Flyers were born in 1966. The Flyers needed a home, so Ed spearheaded the development of the Spectrum in 1967, and by 1971, had assumed control of the arena.

In 1974, Ed created Spectacor, a management company to oversee the Flyers and the Spectrum. Under Ed's direction, Spectacor founded new businesses over the years, including PRISM, a regional premium cable television channel which broadcasted home games of the Flyers, 76ers and Phillies; Spectacor Management Group, the world's largest manager of public assembly facilities; Spectacor Films, which produces broadcast and cable television movies; and Ticketmaster of Delaware Valley, one of the most successful licensees of Ticketmaster. Spectacor also acquired several businesses, including HTN Associates, the country's largest provider of satellite transmission services for sports' broadcasting, and WIP radio, which Spectacor converted into the country's first truly all-sports radio station. Both entities were sold at a time when each was the industry leader in its field.

Spectacor's most ambitious undertaking began in 1988, when Ed decided that the Flyers needed a new home to remain competitive in the NHL. It took eight years from conception to completion, but today the CoreStates Center stands as a tribune to Ed's perseverance and foresight. The $210 million facility now defines state-of-the-art for arenas.

In March 1996, Ed entered into a merger agreement with Comcast Corporation. Under the agreement, Ed contributed the Flyers, its new AHL affiliate, the Phantoms, the CoreStates Center and the CoreStates Spectrum to the new venture. Comcast contributed the Philadelphia 76ers. The new venture then entered into a partnership with the Phillies to create Comcast SportsNet, a new regional sports television network.

Ed's successes have been recognized by his peers. He was elected to the Hockey Hall of Fame in 1988 and serves on the NHL's Executive Committee. He is a recipient of the Lester Patrick Award for outstanding service to hockey in the United States and has been elected to the Pennsylvania Hall of Fame and the Flyers Hall of Fame.

In 1985, Ed received an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree from Hahnemann University. He is also a Benefactor and Advisory Board Member of the Sol C. Snider Entrepreneurial Center of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. Other Board memberships include the Board of Overseers of the Wharton School, the Institute for Cancer and Blood Diseases at Allegheny University Hospital, the Institute for Objectivist Studies and the Simon Weisenthal Center.

Ed and his wife, Martha, reside in suburban Philadelphia with their daughter, Sarena, and son, Samuel. His other children include: sons Craig and Jay; and daughters, Lindy and Tina; and nine grandchildren.

Pat Croce

When the Philadelphia 76ers named Pat Croce team president on March 19, 1996, they were looking for a fresh start, a new direction. What they found was a proven winner. Through a great deal of hard work and an infectious attitude, Croce has restored the pride and brought excitement back to the Sixers. His fierce drive and determination are felt throughout the organization. No longer is success hoped for, it's expected. Croce, a part owner of the team, has a history of setting high goals and then accomplishing them. Since his arrival, he has raised the standard of expectations for the franchise.

Croce made his initial connection in the world of professional sports in 1980 as the conditioning coach for Bobby Clarke and the Philadelphia Flyers hockey team. Several years later, he opened the first of his Sports Physical Therapists, Inc. centers in a small office building in Broomall, Pa. An early client was one of the most recognizable basketball players in the world...Julius Erving. But the "Doctor" was not Croce's first high-profile client. Baseball Hall of Famer Mike Schmidt was one of Croce's earliest and most ardent followers. In fact, after Schmidt won the National League Most Valuable Player Award in 1986, Croce was one of those whom he thanked.

His emphasis on superior service and quality propelled the growth of his centers and earned them the Greater Philadelphia Quality Award and made them a finalist for the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award. By 1993, Croce had 40 centers in 11 states.

The 1977 cum laude graduate from the University of Pittsburgh is extremely active in the community. His list of community involvement is as impressive as his athletic and business accomplishments.

Croce is the driving force in the Sixers Slam Dunk Diabetes Family Festival, which benefits the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, and has participated in the JDF Walk to Cure Diabetes in each of its 11 years. He serves as the honorary chairman of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation and the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. Croce is also a member of the board of directors of the Police Athletic League and St. Christopher's Hospital For Children.

Croce is an international karate champion, motivational speaker and author. Above all, Pat Croce is a dedicated family man. He and his wife of 19 years, Diane, reside in suburban Philadelphia with their two children, Kelly and Michael.

Larry Brown
Head Coach/Vice President
Basketball Operations

Larry Brown became the 17th head coach in Philadelphia franchise history on May 5, 1997, succeeding Johnny Davis.

Hustle and defense are trademarks of a Larry Brown team. Traditionally, his teams are unselfish and come to compete every night. He has never finished lower than sixth in his division as a professional head coach (1996-97), and has finished first in his division five times (1976-77 & '77-78 with Denver; 1989-90 & '90-91 with San Antonio; and 1994-95 with Indiana).

The 56-year-old Brown spent the past four seasons as head coach of the Indiana Pacers, compiling a record of 190-138 (.579). He took the Pacers to the playoffs three times, including the Eastern Conference finals twice. The Pacers' all-time winningest coach has compiled a career coaching mark of 1030-648 (.629) and has posted 50+ win seasons as a coach on the professional level eight times.

Prior to joining Indiana, Brown spent time as the head coach of the Los Angeles Clippers and San Antonio Spurs. He took the Spurs to the postseason twice (1990 and 1991) and Clippers twice (1992 and 1993), before moving to Indiana in 1993.

Brown spent four seasons in the ABA, earning Coach of the Year honors three times. After two seasons each with Carolina and Denver, Brown returned to the college ranks in 1979 as head coach at UCLA. The Bruins went to the national championship game in Brown's first year as coach and returned to the tournament the following year, before losing in the second round. Brown would spend the next five years as head coach at the University of Kansas, where he won the national championship in 1988.

As a coach, Brown draws on his playing days when he was a member of the 1964 gold-medal U.S. Olympic basketball team. The three-time ABA All-Star holds the ABA record with 23 assists in a game and was the Most Valuable Player of the ABA All-Star Game in 1968.

A former player and assistant coach at the University of North Carolina, Brown is joined by fellow Tar Heels, and current 76ers, Jerry Stackhouse, Eric Montross and Scott Williams.

Brown and his wife, Shelly, have a daughter, Madison, and a son, L.J. The avid golfer also has three daughters, Kristen, Alli and Melissa.

Billy King
Vice President, Basketball Administration

Billy King joins the 76ers as the vice president of basketball administration, a role in which he serves as the point person for basketball operations.

In this role he has helped rebuild the Sixers through the acquisitions of Jim Jackson, Eric Montross, Terry Cummings, Tim Thomas, and Anthony Parker. He also re-signed free agents Mark Davis and Doug Overton.

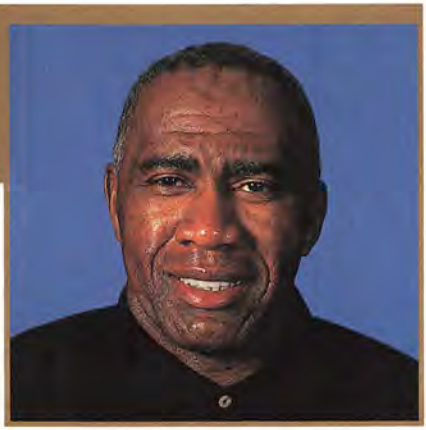
Prior to joining the 76ers, King was an assistant coach for the Indiana Pacers under Larry Brown for four seasons.

Before he joined the professional ranks, he was an assistant at Illinois State University and spent one year as a color analyst for ESPN's basketball coverage of the Ohio Valley Conference.

King was an outstanding defensive player on Duke's highly ranked teams in the late 1980's, and he received the Henry Iba Corinthian National Defensive Player of the Year award at the end of his senior season. While King was at Duke, the Blue Devils were 112-27, an average of 28 wins per season. During his collegiate career, the Blue Devils went to the Final Four twice, won the Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season championship and two ACC Tournament titles.

King also serves on USA Basketball's national select committee and USA Basketball's executive committee. He is single and resides in suburban Philadelphia.

Gar Heard
Assistant Coach



Gar Heard comes to the Philadelphia 76ers after spending the past four seasons as an assistant coach with the Indiana Pacers. This begins his fifth season under Larry Brown. During his tenure with the Pacers, he helped the team average over 47 wins per season. Prior to joining Indiana for the 1993-94 season, Heard served as the fourth head coach in Dallas Mavericks history, taking over for Richie Adubato on Jan. 13, 1993.

During his professional basketball career, Heard has played for, or coached with, some of the winningest coaches in the league's history, including Jack Ramsay, Dick Motta, Lenny Wilkens, John MacLeod and Larry Brown.

Heard entered the NBA as a player with Seattle as its third-round draft choice out of Oklahoma in 1970. He had stints as a player in Seattle, Chicago, Buffalo, Phoenix and San Diego during an 11-year career. His finest season was the 1973-74 campaign when he averaged career highs in both points (15.3) and rebounds (11.7) as a member of the Buffalo Braves.

He played on seven playoff teams in his 11 NBA seasons. Heard, who helped lead the Phoenix Suns to the 1976 NBA Finals, averaged 10.2 points and 9.1 rebounds in 59 career playoff contests.

Heard has two daughters, Kim Taylor and Yaasmeen, and a son, Gyasi.

John Kuester
Assistant Coach

John Kuester joins the 76ers from the Boston Celtics. He spent seven seasons with the Celtics, the past two as an assistant coach and the previous five as Boston's video coordinator/scout.

A University of North Carolina graduate, Kuester played under Dean Smith from 1973-77 as the Tar Heels went to four NCAA Tournaments, won a pair of Atlantic Coast Conference championships, and went to the NCAA Finals in 1977. In his senior year, Kuester was voted the team's best defensive player for the second straight season and the Most Valuable Player of the ACC Tournament and the NCAA East Regionals.

Kuester joined the NBA ranks as a third-round draft choice of the Kansas City Kings (53rd overall) in 1977. He played three seasons in the NBA, one each with Kansas City, Denver and Indiana.

He began his coaching career with stints as an assistant at the University of Richmond (1980-81) and at Boston University (1981-83). In 1983, he became the youngest Division I head coach, succeeding Rick Pitino at Boston University. Two seasons later, Kuester began a five-year stint as head coach of George Washington University before joining the Celtics.

Kuester enjoys spending time with his wife Tricia, son John III (10) and daughter Katelyn (7).

Maurice Cheeks
Assistant Coach

A favorite in Philadelphia, Maurice Cheeks will return to the 76ers for his fourth season as an assistant coach.

Cheeks initiated his coaching career by serving one year as an assistant with the CBA Champion Quad City Thunder.

After 15 years as a player in the NBA, Cheeks retired in 1993 as the league's all-time steals leader and was fifth on the career assists list. Mo led the 76ers in assists in all 11 seasons he played in Philadelphia and also topped the team in steals in each of his first 10 years.

He was named to the NBA's All-Defensive first team four times and was a second-teamer once. A model point guard, Cheeks played in four All-Star Games and shares single-game records for most steals in Finals (six) and playoffs (eight). He played a significant role in helping the 1982-83 76ers become world champions as he averaged 16.3 points and seven assists during the 1983 NBA Playoffs.

The 1978 West Texas State graduate was a four-year starter and three-time team MVP in college. Cheeks, who finished his career third on the West Texas State all-time scoring list, averaged 16.8 points per game and shot an amazing 56.8 percent from the field as a senior. At the conclusion of his collegiate career, he was selected in the second round of the NBA Draft with the 36th overall selection by the Sixers.

Cheeks can look up at the rafters in the CoreStates Center and see his number 10, which was retired by the 76ers on Feb. 6, 1995. Mo is one of six players to have his number retired by the Sixers.
He is single and resides in Philadelphia.

Mark Turgeon
Assistant Coach

Mark Turgeon comes to the 76ers from the University of Oregon, where he spent five seasons as an assistant coach. Along with coaching, Turgeon was also involved in recruiting, scouting and academic progress of student-athletes. He also coordinated the Oregon Basketball Camp for area youths each summer.

While at Oregon, Turgeon helped lead the Ducks to a pair of post-season berths, including an appearance in the 1995 NCAA Tournament, the school's first in 34 years.

A four-year letterman under Larry Brown at the University of Kansas (1984-87), Mark was a 1986 All-Big Eight Academic first-team selection. Turgeon, a two-year captain of the Jayhawks, was one of three players to appear in four NCAA Tournaments and make three Final Four trips as a player and coach at his alma mater.

He still holds the freshman assist mark (138), and his 134 games played were the most for any player in Kansas history when he completed his eligibility. Also, Turgeon currently ranks fifth on the school's all-time assist list. His eight-year record as a player and coach at Kansas was an impressive 211-63.

Turgeon completed his degree in personnel administration in 1987 at Kansas. He and his wife, Ann, were married in the fall of 1993.

Randy Ayers
Physical Conditioning Coach

Randy Ayers begins his first season as the physical conditioning coach of the 76ers after spending the previous eight years as head basketball coach at Ohio State University.

Ayers compiled a 124-108 record at Ohio State and led the Buckeyes to four postseason appearances. He was named National Coach of the Year in 1991 by both the Associated Press and the Black Coaches Association after leading OSU to a 27-4 record. Ayers guided his 1991 squad to a school-record 27 victories and its first of two consecutive Big Ten championships. He received Big Ten Coach of the Year honors in both 1991 and 1992 after leading the Buckeyes to a school-record 15 Big Ten victories in each season.

Ayers came to Ohio State from the U.S. Military Academy, where he coached for two years as a full-time assistant in charge of recruiting. Prior to West Point, he spent two years as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Miami University in Oxford, Ohio.

Randy was the Ohio Player of the Year as a senior at Springfield North High School. He went on to an impressive collegiate career at Miami (Ohio), starting all four years and earning all-conference honors his last two seasons. Ayers graduated in 1978 and was selected in the third round of that year's NBA draft. Released on the final cut, he played a year of pro ball in Reno, Nev.

Randy and his wife, Carol, have two sons, Ryan (10) and Cameron (5).

Tony DiLeo
Director, Scouting

Tony DiLeo is entering his eighth season with the 76ers, his fourth as the team's director of scouting. He also has been an assistant coach and player personnel director with the club. His current duties include all aspects of scouting, including future opponents, collegiate and CBA players, as well as following the progress of prospects playing in Europe.

DiLeo has extensive experience in international basketball, both as a player and as a coach. He was selected as the West German Basketball Federation national coach from 1981-85, and was the country's Coach of the Year in 1987.

In 1984, DiLeo wrote and published the European Basketball Handbook, a guide to accommodate American players overseas. He also has written a manual on rule differences among international basketball, the NBA and the NCAA.

A star at Cinnaminson (N.J.) High School, DiLeo went on to play at Tennessee Tech and La Salle University. As a senior at La Salle, he was a first-team Academic All-American, and graduated first in his class from the School of Business.

He and his wife, Anna, and sons, T.J. (7) and Max (4), live in Cinnaminson, N.J.

Kevin O'Connor
Director, Player Personnel

Kevin O'Connor joins the 76ers as the director of player personnel after serving as a regional scout for the Blazers, Clippers, Nets, and most recently, the Jazz. In his new role, O'Connor will evaluate talent, help prepare for the draft and oversee the team's scouting department.

O'Connor has been associated with winning teams on both the NBA and collegiate levels. This past season he was a member of the Jazz organization as it earned its first trip to the NBA Finals. O'Connor was also an assistant at UCLA in 1980 when Larry Brown led the Bruins to the NCAA championship game. He was also an assistant at Virginia Military Academy when it made an improbable run to the Final Eight of the 1976 NCAA Tournament. In 1973, O'Connor helped coach Virginia Tech to a 22-5 record and the NIT championship.

He first worked Brown in 1979 as an assistant coach at UCLA. He spent two seasons on Brown's staff and remained at UCLA until 1984. In addition to stints at UCLA, VMI and Virginia Tech, O'Connor also served as an assistant coach at the University of Colorado and Army.

O'Connor spent his collegiate days at Belmont Abbey College in North Carolina, graduating with degrees in economics and business in 1969. In his senior year, he served as captain of the basketball team and led his squad to a 21-5 record.

The 49-year-old O'Connor and his wife, Martha, have a daughter, Katie, who plays basketball at Virginia Tech.

Lenny Currier, Head Athletic Trainer

Lenny Currier begins his first season as the head athletic trainer for the 76ers. He comes from the Orlando Magic, where he held the same position for eight seasons. Currier has the unique distinction of participating in every Magic game in club history.

The Arizona State graduate spent four seasons as the head athletic trainer for the Albuquerque Dukes, the Triple-A farm team of the Los Angeles Dodgers, before joining the Magic.

Prior to working with Albuquerque, Currier was head athletic trainer at the University of South Florida. While pursuing a master's degree in physical education at the University of Arizona, he was a graduate assistant trainer for the Wildcat football program.

Currier is a Vietnam veteran and was awarded a Commendation Medal from the United States Air Force, in which he served from 1969-1973. The 47-year-old Currier and his wife, Lori, enjoy traveling, sports and reading.

Coskey left Trump Plaza to become a partner with MediaWorks Communications, an award-winning advertising, public relations and video production firm based in Linwood, NJ. MediaWorks became known as one of the premier promotional firms in the sports and pay-per-view television industries.

In 1995, Caesars Atlantic City and MediaWorks were honored by Brandweek Magazine for the sports marketing event of the year - Seles vs. Navratilova.

He and his wife, Mickey, have three sons, David (14), Michael (11) and Stephen (9), and live in Avalon, N.J.

Jay Schiller brings a wealth of management experience to the 76ers in his role as vice president of business operations. He works directly with Sixers President Pat Croce, and assists him with day-to-day business operations.

For more than seven years he was the general manager for Pat Croce's Sports Physical Therapists Inc., and was instrumental in the growth of the company that rose from four centers and 36 employees, to 40 centers in 11 states that employed more than 500 people. He moved on to NovaCare as director of human resources, performing a myriad of duties including recruiting, employee relations and resource support to the company's 3,500 workers. He later was named director of recruiting and college relations for the rehabilitation enterprise.

Prior to entering the physical therapy field, Schiller was a teacher and coach at the William Penn Charter School. He also directed the aquatics program at Penn Charter that produced numerous prep school All-Americans and Olympic athletes.

Speiser also serves as the adviser to new Sixers Vice President Billy King concerning the workings and complexities of the NBA salary cap. It was the salary cap analytical work that kept him busier than ever this past offseason as King and Coach Larry Brown revamped the club's roster through various trades and free-agent signings.

Prior to joining the 76ers organization in August 1992, Speiser spent nine years with McDonnell Douglas Truck Services, Inc. most recently as its controller. Speiser, 40, received his accounting degree from Syracuse University in 1978. He, his wife Sharon, and sons Alex (10) and Daniel (8) live in Yardley, PA.

NBA Community Programs

Whether it is Doug Overton conducting a basketball clinic as part of the free "76ers Summer Hoops Tour", Jerry Stackhouse making an appearance at a Boys and Girls Club, or Mark Davis encouraging children to participate in the "76ers Read for Ronald" program, the players' commitment and dedication extends far off the basketball court.

Players in other NBA cities share the same vision as the 76ers. On the court, Terrell Brandon of the Milwaukee Bucks has distinguished himself as one of the best point guards in the NBA. The two-time All-Star is known for his quickness and ability to create scoring opportunities for himself and his teammates. Brandon is also known as one of the true gentlemen of the game, bringing high standards of ethical behavior, fair play and integrity to the hardwood. As a result of his on-court sportsmanship, Brandon was honored as the 1996-97 winner of the NBA Sportsmanship Award.

Brandon's award is part of a larger program, the NBA Sportsmanship initiative, one of several community programs implemented by the league. The initiative also includes the NBA Student-Athlete Sportsmanship Program and a public service campaign.

Players, coaches and teams support programs that positively impact their local communities, especially those programs that benefit youth. NBA players are frequently seen in public service announcements to promote awareness of social issues. They also participate in a variety of community outreach efforts.

The NBA TeamUp program, which made its debut in the 1996-97 season, encourages youth to improve their communities through volunteerism. The program includes a public service campaign, motivational visits by NBA spokesmen and players, and a youth service award.

In conjunction with Reading is Fundamental, the leading non-profit literacy organization in the United States, the NBA helps emphasize the importance of youth literacy. Each March, the NBA and its teams recognize NBA Reading Month by holding "Reading Time Outs" and book distributions at schools, libraries and youth organizations. The NBA also produces public service announcements focusing on the fun and fundamentals of reading.

In addition, the NBA continues its support of Black History Month, CARE, the King Holiday and the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse.

76ers Community Programs

The Philadelphia 76ers are committed to the community by utilizing the team's unique resources, including player involvement, basketball memorabilia and charitable ticket donations. Through these efforts and various outreach programs that emphasize education, recreation and community service, the 76ers are making a positive difference in the Delaware Valley.

76ers Read for Ronald

The 76ers Read for Ronald program encourages students to read while helping sick children and their families during a time of need. Elementary and middle school students collect pledges for each minute read during the month of February. Proceeds benefit The Ronald McDonald House, which provides shelter and emotional support for families of critically ill children being treated in area hospitals.

This will be the third year of the program and the number of lives that are touched by it grows every year. Last year, 5,000 students from 20 schools raised $66,000 for The House. The participating schools benefit too, as 10 percent of the funds are returned to support their educational programs.

Participating students receive a 76ers bookmark and two tickets to the "76ers Read for Ronald Night" March 29 game against the Boston Celtics. A 76ers player visits the top fund-raising schools in March and April.

The program culminates in May at The Philadelphia Ronald McDonald House, where the top fund raisers from each school are recognized during a special ceremony.

SIXERS SLAM DUNK DIABETES

Sixers Slam Dunk Diabetes Family Festival

76ers fans throughout the Delaware Valley will have the opportunity to interact with the entire team and coaching staff at the second Sixers Slam Dunk Diabetes Family Festival. This event will take place Sunday, Jan. 18 from noon to 3:00 p.m. at the CoreStates Center. Proceeds will benefit the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation in an effort to find a cure for diabetes.

Among the popular activities are autograph and photo booths with 76ers players. Fans can also call game action in the fantasy play-by-play booth or showcase their basketball skills in on-court shooting contests. The event also includes silent and live auctions, featuring autographed items from around the NBA. Pop-A-Shot machines, Moonbounce, face painters and clowns round out the day of fun.

Last season, more than 2,500 fans attended the event that raised $50,000 for JDF.

PLAYGROUND REBOUND

76ERS Backboard Reclamation Project

Playground Rebound

This new program aims to revitalize area playgrounds, recreation centers and athletic facilities by providing new basketball backboards with the 76ers logo.

Any community-based group can request up to two 76ers backboards by completing an application detailing location, current backboard conditions and reach of youth activities at the site. Applications can be submitted on an on-going basis and the 76ers will fulfill as many as possible with rolling acceptances.

Groups will be selected based on need, reach of group, date of application receipt and availability of backboards.

Doug Overton and Mark Davis will serve as spokesmen.

Sixers Neighborhood Basketball League

The Sixers Neighborhood Basketball League is a youth recreation league sponsored by Nike and conducted by the Philadelphia Department of Recreation. The SNBL gives children ages 9 to 18 the opportunity to participate in an organized, supervised league at one of 37 Department of Recreation facilities.

This season, approximately 4,500 boys and girls will participate in 61 leagues between November and April. All participants receive a SNBL T-shirt. Twelve teams are invited to play on the CoreStates Center floor prior to the 76ers - New Jersey Nets game February 14, and SNBL youth are also invited to attend the 76ers - Milwaukee Bucks game March 4.

The 76ers have included seven local colleges as partners in the SNBL: Temple University, Drexel University, LaSalle University, St. Joseph's University, Villanova University, University of Pennsylvania and Philadelphia College of Textiles and Science. Student volunteers will host SNBL participants at sporting events and offer campus tours.

76ers TeamUp

The 76ers TeamUp programs seeks to encourage and recognize students who participate in community service projects.

During last year's TeamUp program, more than 1,400 ninth grade students from 11 high schools implemented 42 community service projects. This season, the program will be offered to students in grades 9-12. Teachers assist students in implementing projects that address educational, environmental or human needs.

76ers incentives will be awarded to students who implement projects and demonstrate improvement in attendance, academic achievement or attitude. Students recognized for outstanding community involvement will be invited to the 76ers - Washington Wizards game March 11.

The 76ers TeamUp program supports the NBA's national program and its mission of using its resources to positively influence young people in the areas of academic learning, personal development and civic responsibility.

Sixers Spokesmen Wheelchair Basketball Team

In conjunction with Magee Rehabilitation, the 76ers will sponsor a wheelchair basketball team. The Sixers Spokesmen presented by Magee Rehabilitation will travel throughout the Northeast to play a 30-game schedule against teams from Delaware, New Jersey, Scranton and Philadelphia. The team will wear official 76ers jerseys provided by Champion.

The Sixers Spokesmen will also participate in an exhibition half-time game and compete in a regulation league game after a 76ers contest at the CoreStates Center. The team will also conduct a clinic for wheelchair-bound youth.

The season culminates with the National Wheelchair Basketball Tournament in March.

76ers Summer Hoops Tour

The basketball season may end in June, but the 76ers hit the streets during the summer months to conduct the 76ers Summer Hoops Tour, sponsored by Nike and Modell's. The tour is a series of free basketball clinics open to youth of all ages and is designed to teach and reinforce the fundamentals of the game. Each participant receives a 76ers souvenir.

Former 76ers star and current community relations player representative World B. Free is the tour leader. Free demonstrates shooting, passing, dribbling and defensive techniques while delivering messages about the importance of hard work.

The 1 1/2-hour clinics include the opportunity to play in a friendly "game" of three-on-three against Free and other 76ers representatives. Other members of the 76ers family who have participated in the clinics include alumni Darryl Dawkins, Ollie Johnson and Gerald Henderson. Radio Broadcaster Tom McGinnis acts as the master of ceremonies for the tour.

The summer of 1998 will mark the third year of the program. Through the cooperation of recreation departments and playgrounds, the tour stopped in 20 locations in 1997 and reached more than 2,300 children.

Basketball 101

Basketball 101 encourages people of all ages to learn about basketball and is designed to be held in any setting including playgrounds, recreation centers or even a hotel conference room. Champion is a supporting sponsor of the program.

The 76ers "professors" of basketball each have their own style of teaching this "class." Each Basketball 101 is unique and can include drills, shooting contests, trivia and story telling. This program is so flexible that it can even be conducted without a basketball hoop. Among the tenured "professors" are Community Relations Player Representatives World B. Free and Steve Mix, Assistant Coach Maurice Cheeks and Radio Broadcaster Tom McGinnis.

At the conclusion of the program, "students" enrolled in the class receive a "Basketball 101" diploma. Basketball 101 is a fun, interactive way to learn the game from experts who hold a degree from basketball's highest institution...the NBA.

76ers NBA 2ball

76ers NBA 2ball presented by Champion is an exciting game played by a two-player team. Each team has one minute to score as many points as possible from seven designated shooting spots. Each spot is worth a numeric point value, but other fundamentals of the game including dribbling, passing and teamwork are important to scoring high in 2ball.

The 76ers have again partnered with the Police Athletic League (PAL) and Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) and will conduct 2ball in their athletic facilities throughout the Delaware Valley. All participants receive a 2ball certificate and local, area and city finalists receive special prizes from Champion. The city finals will be held at halftime of a 76ers game and city winners from each of the 29 NBA markets will advance to the conference finals. The NBA 2ball championship will be held at an NBA arena during the spring.

Community Outreach

In addition to the initiatives that are outlined, the 76ers also work closely with the following organizations to help make a difference in the lives of young people: Police Athletic League (PAL), The Big Brother/Big Sister Association of Philadelphia, Boy Scouts of America, Philadelphia Cares, Catholic Youth Organization (CYO), Boys and Girls Clubs of Delaware and the Boys and Girls Clubs of Metropolitan Philadelphia. Each of these organizations receives player/alumni appearances, 76ers incentives and financial support. The CYO is the beneficiary of a 76ers team appearance at its annual Hall of Fame fund-raising dinner, and the team also participates in a luncheon for the Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, with part of the proceeds benefiting the Urban League of Philadelphia.

The 76ers also offer youth from non-profit organizations the opportunity to watch the team play at the CoreStates Center through its charitable ticket program. Groups are offered a maximum of 20 tickets once per season.

Another civic service provided by the organization is its speakers bureau. World B. Free and Steve Mix make appearances at schools, youth clubs, rotary clubs and other community organizations. Other members of the speakers bureau include radio Broadcaster Tom McGinnis and TV Broadcaster Marc Zumoff.

1997-98 Season Preview
by Larry Brown

The Philadelphia 76ers need to gain the respect of the people in this community in order to have fans come to the ballgames and know we are going to give an honest effort and try to play the right way. I heard so many negatives when I got the job, I don't want to focus on the negatives. The fact that we are so young only offers us the opportunity to mature and develop into a winning ballclub.

Our young players come from extremely successful college programs and they have reaped the rewards of winning. We have a great backcourt combination in Allen Iverson, the 1997 NBA Rookie of the Year and the charismatic Jerry Stackhouse. They have the potential to be one of the special backcourt combinations for years to come and they both really want to win and be successful. That's our goal, to develop that.

Doug Overton will continue to be a solid backup for Allen on the court. He is a quality guy and knows his role. Doug wants to play here and be part of the team, which is very appealing, because not many players wanted to play for the 76ers over the past five or six years. Rex Walters, who had his best season last year, provides us with a threat on the perimeter and should continue to give us quality minutes off the bench.

In an effort to begin rebuilding, we pulled off the biggest trade in 76ers history immediately following the 1997 NBA Draft. The team negotiated with the Nets on June 27, to send Michael Cage, Lucious Harris, Don MacLean and the draft rights to Keith Van Horn to New Jersey in exchange for Jim Jackson, Eric Montross and the draft rights to Tim Thomas and Anthony Parker.

Although the 76ers are a young team with a bright future, acquiring a great veteran such as Jim will benefit the club. He can play many positions, which is especially helpful and will add much-needed depth to our team. Jim will provide leadership and direction to the young guys, as they can look up to him as an example and role model.

Eric Montross was a big part of that blockbuster trade. I think Eric is a big plus for us because he is a natural center, very unselfish and a good, tough kid. I am very encouraged to watch him develop and play to his full potential.

Perhaps the biggest key this season for us will be the play of Derrick Coleman. In Derrick we have one of the top forwards in the game. Throughout his career, when healthy, he has posted outstanding numbers offensively and on the boards. Our offseason acquisition of Terry Cummings should prove beneficial both on and off the court. He proved last season, as a Sonic, that he still has some good years left in him and I love his ability to lead.

Another key move in the offseason was the re-signing of Mark Davis, who established himself last season. Like Doug, Mark's desire to remain a 76er is a sign that the attitude is changing around here. I like his ability to play in transition and feel he will continue to improve.

Clarence Weatherspoon and Scott Williams should provide us with quality minutes and depth in the frontcourt. Spoon has consistently been a double-figure scorer and a force on the boards. Scott has played on winning teams both collegiately and professionally and should be a valuable asset.

Thomas, Parker, Marko Milic and Kebu Stewart do not have to come in and turn the team around as Allen and Jerry did, they can take the time to learn without the pressure. I think they have a real good chance to be successful in this league.

The 76ers are a young team that wants to taste success. The most important thing, if we are going to achieve any level of success, is that we have to change the mentality here to where we try to play the right way every practice, every game. I sense a change is already in motion. I'm excited about the challenge of rebuilding this proud organization.

76ers Logo and Uniforms Through the Years

The 76ers will have a completely new look this season, both on and off the court. In addition to the changes on the court, the organization unveiled a new logo in June, the first major logo change since becoming the Philadelphia 76ers in August of 1963.

"The new design encompasses what the 76ers are becoming -- a cool, modern basketball team," 76ers President Pat Croce said at the unveiling. "We kept the blue and red for tradition and added some modern colors like gold and silver. This logo has action in it."

After consulting with former and current players, as well as creative specialists from the NBA, a new "look" was designed that was exciting to all. In keeping with the traditional red and blue, the logo was "modernized" by adding silver, gold and black.

"I am really excited about our new logo and I am glad to see some of the old elements from when I played with the 76ers incorporated in the new design," stated former Sixers point guard and current assistant coach Maurice Cheeks.

"I love it," former Philadelphia Warrior Paul Arizin said. "I think this logo will help lead the franchise into a new era, while preserving some of the tradition and history of the past teams."

For the 14th time in 76ers history, the team will be sporting new uniforms. This will mark the inaugural season in franchise history that the Sixers will wear black uniforms on the road. Trimmed in red and gold, the team's road jersey will feature the word "SIXERS" on the front with white numbers trimmed in red. At home, a white jersey will feature black numbers trimmed in red.

"I think it looks great," 76ers guard Jerry Stackhouse said as he modeled the uniform at the unveiling. "We have a young and exciting team and I think the uniforms and logos provide us with a fresh look."

Below is a recap of the Sixers uniforms from 1963-97, with the team record in those uniforms in parentheses.

The Sixers opened their run in Philadelphia with a Betsy Ross-inspired uniform. Adorned with a circle of stars on both the shorts and the back of the jersey surrounding the player's number, the stars quickly became a hallmark of the Sixers uniforms. The road uniform was dark blue with red lettering and numbers. Midway through the '64-65 season the style of the letters and numbers was changed.

1965-66 (55-25)
A two-tone uniform with a high waistband and long, baggy trunks was introduced. The players considered it flashy and uncomfortable to play in and it was abandoned after one season.

1966-70 (227-100)
The Sixers went to the straightforward look during their first championship run. Simple block letters with the traditional "PHILA" on the front replaced the star-spangled look. Road uniforms became red with blue lettering and white trim.

1970-71 (47-35)
With its red-in-blue trim and cursive lettering, the Sixers' next official home uniform (the old red garb was retained for away games), did not please Sixers suppliers. Midseason trades meant impossible turn-around times for these custom-sewn, flowing script uniforms. In the middle of the season a switch is made and "Seventy Sixers", in script, replaces "PHILA" on the front of the uniform.

1971-76 (144-266)
SonderLevitt Advertising designed a uniform that had a much longer lifespan than its predecessor. With the new art deco-like lettering, the uniform retained the star-inset blue side stripe, a graphic element that remained a feature through the '70s. Away uniforms were royal blue with white side stripes and stars.

1976-77 (50-32)
Another one-shot uniform surfaced, this time with a theme. In honor of the Bicentennial, the team returned to the cursive lettering and trim numerals of the 1970-71 season. The new uniforms were designed by Pat Williams, Al Domenico, Billy Cunningham and SonderLevitt Advertising.

1977-78 (55-27)
The lettering on the jersey was readjusted, with home uniforms lettered in blue and outlined in white and red, while away uniforms were royal blue with white lettering in red trim.

1978-91 (679-387)
The NBA begins to regulate uniform changes more closely. A rule is installed by the league requiring teams to use an exclusive outfitter and alert the NBA one year in advance of a design change. This uniform becomes the Sixers' hallmark, using few stars around block lettering, with the numeral surrounded by stars on the shorts. The road color returned to red. The 76ers played more games in this uniform (1,066) than any other in the history of the franchise.

1991-94 (86-160)
The Sixers uniform was redesigned by Champion Products and was a departure from the classic Sixers uniform. The design featured multicolored stars against a royal blue field that curved up from shorts to the jersey. The background of the away uniform remained red.

1994-97 (64-182)
This uniform was actually a throwback to the classic Sixers look. Designed by Lucy Loeb, the front featured "SIXERS" in a more ornate block lettering. This garb was white with red and blue trim at home and red with white and blue trim on the road.

1996-97 Season Review

Despite finishing with a 22-60 record under rookie Head Coach Johnny Davis, the 1996-97 season might eventually be viewed as the beginning of the 76ers' reclamation project. The campaign marked the debut of electrifying point guard Allen Iverson, the opening of the state-of-the-art CoreStates Center, and the first full season under the ownership of Comcast Spectacor and team president Pat Croce.

Iverson capped a stellar season by becoming the first Sixer to be named the NBA Rookie of the Year. The top overall selection in the 1996 draft, Iverson lived up to his lofty expectations as he led all NBA rookies in scoring, steals, assists and minutes played. He established a 76ers rookie scoring record with 1,787 points and captured the league's Rookie of the Month award in November and April. Iverson also was named the MVP in the Schick Rookie Game held during the NBA All-Star Weekend in Cleveland. In April, he posted five straight games of 40 or more points, an NBA rookie record. During the streak, Iverson scored a Sixers rookie record and career-high 50 points at Cleveland, including 39 in the second half, both establishing Gund Arena records.

The arrival of Iverson helped cement the foundation of one of the NBA's top young backcourts. Iverson and second-year shooting guard Jerry Stackhouse combined to average more than 44 points per game, tops among starting backcourts in the NBA. Each finished among the top 15 in the league in scoring, making the Sixers one of just two teams to have two scorers among the top 15.

Stackhouse, who started all 81 games in which he appeared and led the team in minutes played, averaged 20.7 points. He led the team in scoring on 26 occasions, including a season-high 39 points at Charlotte in April.

Rebounding also proved to be a strength during the 1996-97 campaign. The 76ers ranked second in the league in offensive rebounds (15.5 rpg) and third in total rebounds (44.2 rpg). Derrick Coleman led the team on the glass, pulling down 10.1 rebounds per contest. Coleman also topped the club in double-doubles with 28, despite missing 25 games due to injury. Michael Cage, who played in all 82 games to extend his streak of consecutive games to 657 (eighth all-time and second longest current streak), grabbed his 8,000th career rebound at San Antonio in December.

Clarence Weatherspoon, who was the only 76er to start all 82 games, averaged 12.2 points and 8.3 rebounds per game to place second on the squad. Weatherspoon grabbed double figures in rebounds in 27 games and recorded 19 double-doubles.

Although the Sixers struggled on the court, they were winners at the box office. Attendance was up a league-high 28 percent over the previous season and their average of 15,280 was their best since the 1990-91 season. It also represented the fifth highest single-season average in franchise history. A sellout crowd of 21,061 fans attended the CoreStates Center when the Sixers hosted the Bulls on March 12, setting a Commonwealth of Pennsylvania single-game record.

Despite enduring numerous growing pains, the short-term results of the 1996-97 season showed a four-win improvement over the previous season, marking the first time since 1989-90 that the Sixers made progress in the win column. The long-term results of the 1996-97 season will not be known for a while, but it helped set the foundation for a team on the way back.

TICKET PRICES IN THE EARLY YEARS

When player salaries were not as lofty as today and teams did not have arenas with the large seating capacities now prevalent in the NBA, ticket prices for games were accordingly much cheaper than today, just like prices for clothing, food, etc. The first year of the 76ers in 1963-64, ticket prices for the games at Convention Hall were $1.50, $2, $2.75 and $3.50. They stayed the same the next season. In 1965-66, the top price soared to $4 with $3.25, $2.50 and $1.50 the other prices. These were also the prices when the 76ers won the NBA Title in 1966-67. In 1967-68, the first year in the Spectrum, the prices were $6, $5, $4, $3, and $2. They stayed that way through the 1974-75 season. Finally in 1975-76, the first year of George McGinnis, the prices went up a dollar to a $7 tops, and then began the steady rise to today's figures.

70 DRAFTED PLAYERS MAKE ROSTER

Since the 76ers first draft in 1964 through the 1996 draft, 70 players picked played at least one game for the team! The best year was 1973 when 7 players (Doug Collins, Mike Bantom, Allan Bristow, George McGinnis, Caldwell Jones, Harvey Catchings and Rod Freeman) played for the 76ers at some point in their careers. The worst year was 1991 when the team's lone pick, second rounder Alvaro Teheran, didn't make it. In 1988, no draftees made it, but the Sixers had a pre-draft deal with the LA Clippers to pick Charles Smith and trade him the same day for Hersey Hawkins who was the sixth pick in the draft.

A FEW BASIC NBA RULES

When a player is placed on the injured list, he must sit out a minimum of 5 games before he may be restored to the active list. A team can't have more than 3 players on the injured list at any one time without special permission from the League (Boston had that permission in the 1996-97 season). On or after a designated early January date, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. This process may be used only to replace a player assigned to the injured list. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day contracts with the same team.

IRON MAN STREAK

Johnny Kerr played 834 straight games for 76ers from the 1954-55 season through the 1964-65 campaign. He never missed a game with the club.

WILT'S RETURN TO PHILADELPHIA

Wilt Chamberlain returned to Philadelphia after his acquisition from San Francisco on January 15, 1965 to play against San Francisco on January 21, 1965 before a packed house of 6,140 at the Arena. The 76ers won 111-102.

A WILT RECORD THAT STILL STANDS

Everyone is familiar with the league record 100 points that Wilt Chamberlain scored in 1962 versus the Knicks, but it is not as widely known that he also holds the league record for assists (21) by a center. He achieved this figure Feb. 2, 1968 vs. Detroit. Maurice Cheeks equalled that figure to tie Wilt for the club mark on Oct. 30, 1982 vs. the Nets, but of course Cheeks is a guard.

MEMORABLE DATES IN 76ers HISTORY

Three dates that 76ers fans constantly seek are the famed Julius Erving-Larry Bird fisticuffs (Nov. 9, 1984 at Boston); the game when John Havlicek stole the ball (Apr. 15, 1965 at Boston); and the Easter Sunday when the Sixers drew 6,704 for the 7th playoff game with Milwaukee (Apr. 19, 1981).

LONGEST AND SHORTEST COACHING REGIMES

Billy Cunningham had by far has the longevity record among 76ers coaches. He skippered the team from 1977-98 to 1984-85 when he retired and Matt Guokas supplanted him. The shortest coaching stint was by Kevin Loughery who coached 31 games (5-26) in the second half of the 1972-73 season before jumping to the New York Nets. Kevin had replaced Roy Rubin at the All-Star break when Rubin's mark was 4-47. The third shortest reign was Doug Moe with 56 (19-37) games in 1992-93 before being axed in favor of Fred Carter.

Julius Erving was the first to do it on November 20, 1979 at San Antonio with 10 rebounds, 10 assists and 26 points. Others to do it were Andrew Toney, 1984-85; Charles Barkley 1985-86, 1986-87 (5 times), 1988-89 (twice) and 1989-90; Maurice Cheeks 1987-88; Hersey Hawkins 1992-93; Clarence Weatherspoon 1993-94 and Dana Barros the last to do it in 1994-95. NINE MEN IN DOUBLE FIGURES

All nine 76ers players had double figures vs. Washington at the Spectrum Dec. 30, 1977 when the 76ers won 126-119. Doug Collins had 23, George McGinnis 19, Julius Erving 16, Henry Bibby 14, Lloyd Free and Darryl Dawkins 12 each and Caldwell Jones, Steve Mix and Joe Bryant 10 each. This feat of all players performing in a game hitting doubles is believed to be an NBA record. The 76ers also had 9 of 11 men in doubles vs. Denver on March 6, 1981. The last times the Sixers had 8 men in double figures were April 15, 1984 vs. Chicago and April 1, 1990 vs. Phoenix.

POINTS OFF TURNOVERS 76ers 59 Baker League 61

A HISTORICAL LOOK AT THE PHILADELPHIA 76ERS

The Philadelphia 76ers franchise actually began in 1949, when six teams from the midwest-based National Basketball League joined the Basketball Association of America to form the 17 team National Basketball Association. One of those teams was the Syracuse Nationals, which eventually became the Philadelphia 76ers. The Nats went 51-13 in their first NBA season under Al Cervi, and won the Eastern Division crown. The team was very successful in Syracuse, reaching the NBA final in both 1950 and 1954 both times losing to the Minneapolis Lakers. They finally broke through in 1955, taking their first, and only, NBA title by defeating the Fort Wayne Pistons 92-91 on April 10, 1955, taking the series 4-3. The team posted winning records in 11 of its 14 seasons in Syracuse.

The Nets were purchased by Philadelphian Irv Kosloff and Ike Richman in the spring of 1963, and the NBA approved the franchise shift (May 22) and name change (Aug. 6) from the Nationals to the 76ers, returning professional basketball to Philly. (The Philadelphia Warriors had left for San Francisco following the 1961-62 season.) Nets star Dolph Schayes was named the Sixers first coach, and the team went 34-46 in its first season, finishing in third place. Guard Hal Greer was the star of that first Sixers team, averaging 23.3 ppg and becoming the first Sixers All-Star.

The first turning point for the franchise occurred on January 15, 1965, when the club acquired star center Wilt Chamberlain from the San Francisco Warriors for three players and cash. Chamberlain continued his NBA dominance, becoming the first Sixer to lead the NBA in scoring and rebounding while leading the team to its first Eastern Division title with a 55-25 record in '65-66.

Former Nets star and coach Alex Hannum succeeded Dolph Schayes as head coach prior to the '66-67 season, and the team picked up right where it left off, winning the Eastern Division title with a 68-13 record. The team then took the NBA title by defeating the San Francisco Warriors 4-2, clinching the series with a 125-122 win in game six on April 24 at the Cow Palace in San Francisco.

The '67-68 season saw the Sixers move from their old home, the Philadelphia Civic Center, to the new CoreStates Spectrum and Jack Ramsay became the team's first GM. They opened the building with a 103-87 win over the Los Angeles Lakers on October 18, 1967. Philly finished that season with a 62-20 record, taking their third straight Eastern Division title, but lost to the Boston Celtics 4-3 in the Eastern Conference Finals. Chamberlain etched his name yet again in the NBA recordbook in '67-68 by recording the NBA's only triple-double-double with 25 rebounds, 21 assists and 22 points in a 131-121 win over Detroit on February 2, 1968. Following the season, Ramsay succeeded Alex Hannum as Sixers head coach, and became the first person in team history to hold the dual role of head coach and general manager. The team just missed its fourth straight division title in '67-68, finishing second with a 55-27 mark, and was dethroned by the Boston Celtics in the opening round of the playoffs. Don DeJardin succeeded Ramsay as GM in the 1970-74 period.

Age and injuries then took their toll on the franchise. The '71-72 team became the first Sixers team to finish below .500 (30-52), and the 1972-73 squad became one of the more infamous teams in league annals, posting the worst mark in NBA history at 9-73 with Roy Rubin and Kevin Loughery splitting the coaching chores. Gene Shue's appointment as head coach on June 15, 1973 and the selection of Doug Collins with the first pick of the '73 NBA Draft began the Sixers return as an NBA power. Pat Williams' reign as GM ran from 1974 to 1986. They also added a key frontcourt player with the signing of free agent George McGinnis on July 10, 1975. Collins and McGinnis formed the foundation for the Sixers mid-'70's rise, as Collins averaged 17.9 ppg and garnered four All-Star game selections in his injury-shortened eight season career, while McGinnis averaged 21.6 ppg and a pair of All-Star nods in his three Sixers campaigns.

The team steadily improved, highlighted by a 50-32 Atlantic Division title in '76-77 and a playoff run that saw them reach the '77 NBA Finals, where they were turned back by former coach Jack Ramsay and the Portland Trail Blazers in six games.

Philly then made its most storied move. On October 21, 1976, the Sixers purchased Julius Erving's contract from the New York Nets and on November 3, 1977, Billy Cunningham replaced Gene Shue as Sixers head coach. The team took their second straight Atlantic Division crown with a 55-27 record, but lost to the Washington Bullets in the Eastern Conference Finals.

However, the stage was now set, and their run continued as one of the elite teams in the NBA over the better part of the next decade, winning no less than 52 games in seven straight seasons between 1979-80 and 1985-86, including three appearances in the NBA Finals. Their most memorable season during that era was 1982-83. The team, led by Erving, Moses Malone and All-Star guard Maurice Cheeks, posted a 65-17 regular season record and went on a 12-1 rampage through the NBA playoffs. They capped the championship off with a 4-0 sweep of the Los Angeles Lakers in the Finals. Harold Katz purchased the team from Fitz Dixon in July of 1981, and helped guide them to the title in his second ownership season.

Billy Cunningham continued at the helm until June 14, 1985, when he was replaced by Matt Guokas. The team, still led by Malone and Erving and a budding star named Charles Barkley, continued its run as one of the NBA's elite, finishing with a 54-28 mark in '85-86. The GMs were John Nash, 1986-90, Shue 1990-92, and Jim Lynam 1992-94. More recent successes have included the 1989-90 Atlantic Division title (under Lynam) and the club's 2,000th franchise victory on December 13, 1994, over the Miami Heat. John Lucas was hired as head coach and general manager on June 14, 1994. The sale of the club from Katz to Comcast Corp. and Pat Croce was approved by the NBA on April 24, 1996. Brad Greenberg was named general manager on May 8, 1996. Johnny Davis replaced Lukas as coach June 10, 1996. Larry Brown was named coach May 5, 1997.

CLUB NICKNAME

The late Walter Stahlberg, of West Collingswood, New Jersey, won a contest to name the club in 1963. The choice of the club's nickname was announced on August 6, 1963. There were almost 500 different suggestions among the entries and Stahlberg was one of several who picked the 76ers. However, his accompanying 25-word explanation was deemed the best by the judges, and he and his wife received an all-expense trip to the West Coast to see the 76ers play San Francisco.

76ers BANNER YEAR ON THE ROAD

The 76ers of 1976-77 (632,994) were the biggest road attraction in NBA history until 1984-85 (in 1995-96 and 1996-97 Chicago sold out every road game). They drew 33 sellouts in 41 outings for a 15,439 average. In Buffalo they drew the largest opening crowd in the Braves' history two days after Julius Erving was signed. They drew the largest crowd of the year in Kansas City and the two largest in New Orleans including a then record-breaking 27,383. They drew sellouts in both their appearances in Atlanta, Washington, Houston, San Antonio, Cleveland, Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, Denver, Los Angeles, Golden State, Portland, Seattle, New York and Boston and in their lone game in Phoenix. They drew sellouts in one of their two games in both New Orleans and Indiana. Only in Buffalo, Kansas City and the Nets did they fail to have any sellouts. Their smallest road crowd was 8,792 at Buffalo in a rescheduled snowed-out game. Their only other crowd under 10,938 was a 9,633 total in their first game with the Nets. By divisions they sold out all 9 games in the Pacific Division; 11 out of 12 in the Central Division, 9 out of 12 in the Midwest Division and only 4 out of 8 in the Atlantic Division. They also had sellouts in all 9 road playoff games to wind up an unparalleled record in the league's history at that time.

NBA'S ONLY TRIPLE DOUBLE DOUBLE BY WILT

Wilt Chamberlain accomplished a feat on Feb. 2, 1968 that may never be equalled in the NBA. It was a Triple Double Double and was achieved in a 76ers 131-121 win over Detroit. Wilt had 25 rebounds, 21 assists and 22 points in this game. Wilt's other totals were 48 minutes 9-13 FG shooting, 4-12 FT shooting and no personals in a game witnessed by a crowd of 11,069.

RON POLLACK HAS UNIQUE DISTINCTION

When Ron Pollack worked the 1996 Olympics at Atlanta, he completed a triple unparalleled in basketball. Ron was a supervisor of the statistical crews for men and women at Atlanta. Previously he had worked the NCAA finals at the Spectrum in 1976 and the NBA finals here in both 1967 and again in 1983. Ron is the computer expert at the 76ers press table, being the main inputter in providing the statistics that Core States Center fans see flashed both on the main scoreboard and also the side panels.

WILT PLAYED FOR NBA'S TWO BEST TEAMS

Do you know what the 76ers of 1966-67 and the Lakers of 1971-72 have in common? The answer: Wilt Chamberlain played for both, and the teams were 1-2 in NBA for the best records until Chicago's 72-10 mark in 1995-96. The Sixers were 68-13 and the Lakers were 69-13.

ONE OF A KIND

This game was originally played on Wednesday, Nov. 8, 1978, with the 76ers beating New Jersey 137-133 in double overtime. The game was protested with 5:50 remaining in the third quarter with the 76ers leading 84-81, because the referees had erred in calling third technical fouls on New Jersey Coach Kevin Loughery and player Bernard King. The game was replayed from the 5:50 mark of the third period on Friday, March 23, 1979. Eric Money, who was with New Jersey, and Harvey Catchings and Ralph Simpson, who were with the 76ers, were involved in a trade on Feb. 7, 1979, and ended up playing for both teams in the game. The game is unique for several reasons, according to Dick Pfander of Beulah, Michigan. It's the only game in NBA history in which players played for both teams in the same game. It's the only game in NBA history in which 13 players played for one team (New Jersey). It's the only game in NBA history in which 25 men played for both teams. It's also one of the very few games in NBA history where a protest was upheld and part of a game was replayed. It MAY be the only game in pro team sports history in which players played for both teams in the same league game. The box score: Wed Nov. 8, 1978/Fri. Mar. 23, 1979 at the Spectrum, Phila.
